

All contributions that were received by individuals were under the $200 aggregate threshold for the year.

Advertising was just to get people out to vote. Not for a specific candidate or the defeat of a specific candidate.
